INVESTING DESTINY

Monthly Review Chinese 10th Month (25 Oct to 23 Nov)

Good morning from Kyoto.

This is the first Monthly Review coming from Kyoto Japan. I am typing this in a peaceful and spiritual environment, the autumn season at 18 degrees.

Yes, I temporarily moved to Kyoto on 1 October 2022 and started my Japan nature dream and spiritual journey, but, Investing Destiny functions as normal, thanks to the current high-tech world. With planning, effort, and actions, we can fulfill our dreams and create our own desired lives.

To me, investing is not just about making money, it is about generating resources for us to fulfill our desires and, LIVE. I shared all my views, experiences, stories and inspirations in my upcoming book <Investing Destiny>, planning to publish the book via Amazon.com on 24 November 2022.

Today is my 23rd day in Japan, to summarize it in one sentence - only those who do what they truly want can experience great inner happiness and peace.

Without stock investment and Investing Destiny, I won't have this peace and freedom to live this dream life. So, always stay invested and NEVER forget your Investing Destiny energy and timing.

If you receive my 2023 Investing Destiny calendar, you will notice that I have added in Japan holidays, I added them even before Japan immigration grants me the visa. My determination and energy were that strong and triggered this amazing outcome.

The last 22 days were awesome, till I lost the feel for the market, my mind was empty when I wanted to start to prepare this review. This reminded me (and you) that consistent effort is so important, we must put in the daily effort, follow the news and market updates, this is a must for all successful investors. I have to read back and track back, for 1-2 hours, to get back the feel and energy.

Chinese 9th month, which ends tomorrow, comes with normal overall energy. Dow was volatile but in net effect, it still came back up. If you remember, in Investing Destiny theories, you choose a period with "Good/$ element 祿" to enter/kick start your investment, some of you own good formations in the Chinese 9th month, I hope you spot good opportunities.

Next, Chinese 10th month, the overall energy is still a normal one in the investment context, with no obvious good or challenging formations. I did a quick run through, many of you (us) own very mixed energy, with good $ stars and also challenging formations, so be very alert and know your stocks, it can still be very volatile. And, always look forward, take a look at your 11th month, if you compare your 10th month with your 11th month, the chart is telling you to take more actions in the 10th or 11th month? 11th month is a month with "overall energy plus Wu Qu Money star + double challenges 十一月整体财星武曲双忌", look at your own formations and recall your Chinese 5th month. Think about it and I will share more in our next Monthly Review. I will prepare the next review earlier to get ready for the 11th month, 12th month, and rabbit year 2023.

End this review to share this again, for newcomers:

- a) your yearly formation forms the base energy;
- b) look for "Good/$ element 禄" period to enter, kick start your investment, and construct your portfolio;
- c) in a challenging period, your stock(s) can still move up, if you invest in them during your "Good/$ element 禄" periods.
- d) in double challenging periods, stay low profile.

Happy investing and enjoy your own life.
